Education funding less than sought

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gov. James R. Thompson Sunday proposed increases of $344 million — 8.2 percent — for education funding in Illinois in fiscal 1990, much less than the amount sought by the Illinois Board of Higher Education and the state Board of Education.

If approved by the General Assembly, education funding in Illinois would total about $4.5 billion.

"This is short of the recommendations of the two boards," Thompson told a news conference. "I understand that. I agree with their recommendations and if there was any reasonable chance the legislature would fund them from new revenue resources, I wouldn't hesitate to recommend that."

Thompson said the proposed budget would take the elementary and secondary

Gov. James R. Thompson's proposed $344 million increase in education funding is about 40 percent of the amount recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit said.

Pettit said he does not know how much SIU can expect to receive from the funding increase, but he thinks the system will do fairly well. It all depends on how the money is allocated, and that has not been determined yet, he said.

"This is the best we can hope for without a tax in-education budget up to more than $3 billion — for the first time in the history of the state and the higher education budget to nearly $1.5 billion.

The governor stressed that nearly $100 million of the increase is based on the proposed 18-cent increase in the cigarette tax and extension of the tax to other tobacco products.

The IBHE last month approved a $305 million, 23 percent hike in state funding for state colleges in the fiscal year that begins July 1. State School Chief Ted Sanders said he had recommended $400 million for the state Board of Education, with an additional $400 million for teacher retirement.

Both the IBHE and the State Board have admitted that their proposals are not possible without an income tax increase and they have been pushing heavily for one.

Thompson, who will make his education recommendation on March 1 to the General Assembly, admitted it would not provide sufficient funds to meet all of the needs of education in Illinois. But he said the $344 million jump is a significant increase in spending above that of fiscal

The recommendation includes a $214.6 million increase, or 7.6 percent above fiscal 1989 levels, for elementary and secondary education and $115 million, or 8.5 percent, for higher education, the governor said.

Flu cases decline from week before

Health Service continues treating more than usual

By Lisa Warns
Staff Writer

The number of people being treated for flu is down slightly since early last week when 75 extra patients were seen daily at the Health Service.

On a normal day at the Student Health Service 250 patients are seen but last week, the flu and flu-like symptoms brought 300 to 320 patients daily to the Health Service, Tommy Perkins, director of nurses, said.

"We've seen 50 to 60 more patients every day," Perkins said.

"We are seeing more respiratory flu symptoms."

Despite how it feels, the flu experienced in this area is not as severe as flu can be, according to Chuck Jennings, public health program coordinator at the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Type B Victoria influenza: is what Carbondale is experiencing, Jennings said. It is named Victoria because this strain of flu was first isolated in Victoria, Australia last summer.

It is milder than Type A flu which is more serious and sports complications such as pneumonia or bronchitis, Jennings said.

"Generally, the symptoms will include a fever between 100 and 103 degrees, myalgia (achy muscles) and chest congestion," Jennings said. "Type B flu usually is seen in younger people, about age 3 to young adults."

If the virus is in the stomach, vomiting and diarrhea also are symptoms.

The Health Service phones were backed up because of incoming calls for appointments. This was mainly because the Health Service staff is getting used to a new phone system.

Judge unhappy with jail's situation

Members of the Jackson County Building Commission said Judge Richard Richman's charges against them were unfounded and that he chose the wrong occasion to deliver his speech.

During ribbon-cutting ceremonies for the new

Jackson County Jail Saturday, Richman surprised many in attendance by shaking the already-sinking foundation of the new jail.

"To me, this facility is a monument to irresponsible, indifferent and inefficient county government," Richman said.

Asked to speak at the ceremony by Jackson County Sheriff William Kilquist, Richman took the opportunity to praise the Jackson County Sheriff's Department, but also to attack the controversial project, which has run into several problems in the past, mainly with cost overruns in

Government considers thrifts takeover

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration is considering a takeover of 350 sick savings and loans to control those institutions and prevent their problems from spreading into healthy sectors of the financial industry, it was reported Sunday.

The New York Times, quoting unidentified administration officials, said the takeover option is among those President Bush discussed this

The president is expected to announce the administration's plan sometime before Thursday, when he is scheduled to address a joint session of Congress.

The proposal, offered in a report by the General Accounting Office — the investigative arm of Congress, calls for a speedy takeover of the 350 thrift institutions that are in the direst straits.

Theo Pitt of the industry U.S. League of Savings Institutions said Sunday on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley" the takeover option is "one that we favor" but said the proposal may be just one of several that could be needed to save ailing thrifts.

The Times reported that under the proposal, the savings and loans would be turned over to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which oversees banking.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board regulates and insures the thrift industry. Lax regulation by that agency, mismanagement and possibly criminal activity over the past five years apparently has contributed to the crisis.

So many thrifts are in

Paraguayan dictator flies to exile in southern Brazil

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UPI) — Deposed Paraguayan dictator Alfredo Stroessner flew to exile in Brazil Sunday and the general who ousted him in a bloody coup announced he would call presidential elections in 90 days. Stroessner, 76, flew Sunday afternoon to Campinas, a suburb of Sao Paulo in southern Brazil, where witnesses said he got off the plane accompanied by a group of about 30 people. The city where he was to live was not known.

Rival guerrilla alliances sign solidarity pact

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI) — President Najibullah, marshaling his forces to fill the void left by departing Soviet troops, vowed Sunday to defend the capital against advancing Moslem rebels "to the last moment of our lives." But in an ominous development for the Marxist government, rival guerrilla alliances based in Iran and Pakistan signed a solidarity pact in Tehran, raising the possibility of a united rebel assault on the besieged capital once the Soviet withdrawal is completed.

Israeli soldiers kill 5 Palestinian guerrillas

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israeli soldiers shot and killed five Palestinian guerrillas Sunday in Israel's self-declared "security zone" in southern Lebanon. A radical Palestinian group based in Lebanon said its rebels were involved in the clash. Military sources said the guerrillas, armed with Soviet-made AK-47 rifles, LAW anti-tank weapons, wire cutters and an assortment of grenades, apparently were set to attack a target within Israel.

Prime minister, others wounded by rebels

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI) — Suspected Sinhalese rebels Sunday hurled a bomb and opened fire at former Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike, wounding her in the leg and injuring at least three dozen other people, authorities said. Initial reports had said two people — a civilian and one of Bandaranaike's bodyguards — were killed in the attack, but police were unable to confirm any fatalities.

Rise in convicted felons squeezes prisons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State courts convicted about 583,000 felons in 1986, a statistic that reflects the worsening squeeze on prison space in the United States, a new analysis by the Bureau of Justice Statistics said Sunday. The analysis, for the first time providing data on state court felony activity, found that about 46 percent of those convicted that year were sent to a state prison and another 21 percent to a local jail.

Public opposition due to reaction of pay raise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Senate Republican leader Alan Simpson of Wyoming said Sunday the loud public opposition to the proposed federal pay raise is a reaction to an "undefeatable" House that no longer is responsive to voters. A proposed 50 percent pay increase for members of Congress, federal judges and top-level executive branch officials is to go into effect Wednesday. With the increase, a lawmaker's salary will go from $89,500 to $135,000.

Bennett says he has president's confidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William Bennett, nominated to be the nation's first drug czar, says he feels he has President Bush's "confidence" even though Bush plans to exclude him from the Cabinet. Bennett also says he has assured senators who will hold a confirmation hearing on him next month as director of the new Office of National Drug Policy Control that he will be an "honest broker" free of partisan politics.

Simpson expresses reservations about Tower

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., expressed reservations Sunday about whether John Tower, formerly a consultant to military firms, could serve as defense secretary without the appearance of conflicts of interest. With Senate action on the Tower nomination stalled by questions of personal and business ethics, the assistant Senate Republican leader described as troublesome "the appearance" of conflict, created by Tower's lucrative stint as a consultant to some of the nation's leading defense contractors.

TV star appears at Recreation Show

Bill Dance, of "Bill Dance Outdoors," fielded answered questions and signed autographs at the Spring Sports and Recreation Show at the Arena on Saturday. Dance is shown here with a state-of-the-art rod constructed of IM6 graphite, the newest material on the market. IM6 also is used in missiles and aircraft construction.

Famous angler answers frequently-asked questions

By Megan Hauck
Staff Writer

Bill Dance, fishing expert and host of TV's "Bill Dance Outdoors," appeared Saturday at the SIU Arena for the Spring Sports and Recreation Show.

Although the world-renowned angler said he had visited Decatur and St. Louis, this was his first time in Carbondale.

"It must be my first time here, 'cause I didn't know where I was," he said.

"My granddaddy would flip if he could see the rods we use today."

—Bill Dance

Sometimes his appearances include video and slide presentations, but because of the size of the Arena, Dance used a question-answer format Saturday.

Some questions are asked at almost every show, he said.

"I get a lot of this: 'I live on a lake, and I have a problem catching fish. What am I doing wrong?'" Dance said.

He said he also get asked what his favorite bait is. Dance prefers the Colorado-style, single-blade striped-king spinner bait because he can use it in muddy or clear water year round.

"It's the most versatile bait on the market today," he said.

His favorite rod is a fast action rod because, "It's much more sensitive," Dance said.

Dance prefers Colorado-style, single-blade striped-king spinner bait because he can use it in muddy or clear water all year long.

He also said the finest glass used in the most recent rods is IM6 graphite, which is stronger, lighter and more sensitive than old rods. The new graphite material is used in missiles and aircraft.

"My granddaddy would flip if he could see the rods we use today," Dance said.

The biggest fish Dance ever caught was a 13-pound, 2-ounce bass, he said.

"I enjoy bass, crappie and blue-gill. My favorite fish probably would be small-mouth bass."

About his television show, Dance said that showing him catch a lot of fish isn't that important. He said 82 fish were caught during one show, but only seven were used in the episode.

Dance is also active with the St. Jude Foundation and is tentatively planning a fishing trip with President George Bush.

Dance said that cable's Nashville Network, which airs his show, reaches the audience the show's sponsors most want to reach.

Satire jabs African politics

"Xala," a film by African director Ousmane Sembene, will be screened at 7 tonight in the University Museum Auditorium as part of the 11th Big Muddy Film Festival. Admission is $2.

Sembene, a Senegalese novelist as well as filmmaker, is the most important figure in the establishment of an independent African cinema and, to date, his continent's only filmmaker of major international stature.

"Xala," Sembene's savage and funny satire of modern Africa, was heavily censored in Senegal.

The hero of the film is a self-satisfied, half-Westernized businessman who is suddenly struck down by the xala, a curse rendering its victim impotent.

While he chases desperately after witch doctors and soothsayers in search of a cure, his impotence becomes a mirror of the impotence of young African nations over-dependent on white technology and bureaucratic structures.

"Xala" is being shown as part of the Big Muddy Film Festival.

Americans who vote are ones who count

IN THIS STATE people under the age of 21 cannot legally drink; they cannot enter many public establishments that serve only older patrons; and generally, they cannot rent cars.

They do have the obligation to pay taxes, are subject to the draft and to capital punishment.

People under 21 are expected to finance the government and to defend it with their lives, yet that same government encourages discrimination by withholding highway money from states whose drinking age is less than 21. Insurance companies also charge more auto insurance for young people, probably resulting in the age restrictions that national car rental agencies impose.

THE SYSTEMATIC discrimination with which the young citizens of this country are bridled would not be tolerated toward any other group. But because of the apathy that is so obvious within our ranks lawmakers are not held accountable to the needs and wants of the young. We are, effectively, second class citizens.

Imagine if the government revealed statistics which showed that a particular ethnic group caused more accidents on the highway while under the influence of alcohol than did any other group. Under the logic of current policies that withhold federal highway money from a state with a drinking age below 21, the government could do the same until states made it illegal for this ethnic group to drink alcohol.

Or if insurance companies decided the risk of insuring the elderly was too high and then denied life insurance to any one over 50.

THESE ACTIONS would not wash in the United States because there would be public outcry. Elected officials who instigated or allowed them would be voted out of office.

For a similar reason, the 18- to 21-age group is deprived of the rights afforded to the rest of the citizens of the society. We are adults only in name.

This is because the most meaningful right that people under 21 are given is the one that, as a group, they rarely exercise. That is the right to vote.

Since the constitution was amended in 1971 to lower the national voting age to 18, the 18- to 21-age group has had the lowest percentage of voters of any other age group.

OUR COUNTRY IS run primarily by a sprawling federal bureaucracy, secondly by state bureaucracy and thirdly by local bureaucracies. In a democracy, voting insures that the bureaucracy functions for the citizens instead of for itself.

The 18- through 21-year-olds have taken little advantage of their vote and are now paying the consequences.

The campus uprisings of the 1960s showed that the young can extract concessions from a government that is forced to recognize its existence.

BUT INSURRECTION is no longer necessary when voting coalitions are possible. Yet since the 1972 presidential elections, no more than 38 percent of the 18- to 21-year-olds have voted in presidential elections and no more than 21 percent have voted in congressional elections.

While the opposite end of the voting age spectrum, the over 65 age group, more than 62 percent voted in each presidential election and more than 51 percent voted in each congressional election since 1972.

NOW THE SOCIAL Security system, a program that primarily benefits those over 65, threatens to bankrupt the national government, yet it has become a sacred cow. It is political suicide for a politician to tamper with Social Security.

Though a recent report has picked Social Security as the most effective tool against poverty, it does not survive because of its effectiveness. It survives because those who receive it are an effective political force in our country.

The politicians who set the agenda for the bureaucracies that are the various levels of government listen to their bosses — not the American people — the American voters.

IF THE YOUNG citizens of this country care about the inequities that confront them, if they see that limited citizenship is a contradiction in terms, then they should use the power they have been granted. They should vote for political candidates and desert the apathy that has become the hallmark of the young.

It may not change the people for whom we vote, but it will change the policies and laws that they institute.

...and strange things
occurred the day Salvador
Dali died.

Letters

Attitude, not language key for changing social injustice

Ms. Morris' letter concerning the use of non-sexist language is a very compelling and intelligent appeal. All of her arguments discrediting the rationalizations against the use of non-sexist language are logical and convincing, and deserve earnest consideration. It is true, I believe, that the parameters of a language have a significant effect upon perceptions and attitudes. It is also true that the pronoun "he" evokes a male image, and thus implicitly emphasizes masculinity over femininity. All of these contentions are just.

But appeals for social change, the eradication of a particular social injustice, and the emancipation of the oppressed lose their value when they become tainted with self-righteous indignation, when they divide the world into simple dichotomies of villainous oppressors and innocent oppressed. A perfunctory glance at world history indicates that the formerly oppressed are likely as any to become future oppressors, thus suggesting that the most potent enemy with which we must contend is the enemy within. Therefore, my first contention with Ms. Morris' letter is its emotional content. I respect and admire the passion to improve the human condition, to facilitate greater equality of opportunity for all people on this Earth, and to develop social structures and conventions which encourage creativity and cooperation. However, I have no respect for nurturing one's own personal frustration in the guise of a universal cause, for no matter how legitimate that frustration may be, it belongs first and foremost to the individual. If an individual goes into a cause fueled by the anger bred of frustration, then it's a violent and self-gratifying course upon which they embark. If they sublimate that personal anger, and turn it into a desire for universal justice, then their cause and mine become one. We each become sensitized to the other's needs by merging our causes into a common cause. When we dedicate ourselves to specific, factional agendas, we contribute more to the spirit of combat than the spirit of cooperation.

My second, and more specific, contention involves the insistence that we should all immediately be required to use non-sexist language. While I agree that this would help to eradicate sexist presumptions, I completely oppose any externally imposed modifications of language to fulfill an ideological agenda.

whether I agree with that agenda of not (slurs, which are derogatory statements using present language forms, should be rightfully restricted). Languages, fortunately, are not consciously contrived by panels of individuals vying to augment their particular ideological commitments (though prevalent ideologies do become reflected in language structures). They evolve rather, as complex systems of symbolic representation with extraordinary capacities to express subtle nuances and intricacies. In other words, they are bigger than the individuals who contributed to their development. I've centralized control of economies, centralizing control of languages has oppressive and taguating implications. I would hate to see this culture (or any other) get into the habit of superficially amending the language as a tool for attitude modification.

Let's work on attitudes from the inside out, using compelling arguments, open communication, and, above all, an awareness that there is no enemy "out there" that does not have a reflection in each of us, and that social responsibility requires more than a ready ability to assign blame. — Steve Harvey, sealer, sociology.

Student says right of possession real reason the NRA fights against gun control legislation

It seems that people have forgotten what has made this country so great, what our ancestors crossed the oceans for. It was the freedoms that are guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. Many have fought and died for these rights. Not just in wars, but by standing up and speaking for their belief. Now when a hard fought for freedom is attempted to be made extinct, many organizations stand up and fight for their rights as American citizens. The National Rifle Association is just one of these organizations.

Many people would like you to believe that the NRA is a bunch of ghoulish grim reapers fighting for the rights of lunatics who like to shoot kids. But if you look at the whole picture, the NRA is just an organization fighting for the right of possession.

Does it matter if the NRA fights for the right to bear arms, or the right to own a car, house, or membership of different organizations? It fights for a belief that people have a right to own and possess something.

Freedoms are important to people. Freedoms take time to obtain. It is like a building, you start at the foundation and work your way up. Each brick depends on the other bricks below. If one brick is knocked out, other bricks will crack and fall. The NRA doesn't want this to happen. If ownership of firearms is knocked out, what will fall next?

Many people may disagree with the NRA, but they have the right to. It is a free country. I applaud logical arguments for and against all subjects. But blind swipes and stabs at a subject just show the person's lack of intelligence. People should not be afraid of firearms. They should be afraid of the people who lack the knowledge and respect of life. It is these people who make others suffer, not guns.

Chicagoan winner of $16 million lotto, person's identity unknown

CHICAGO (UPI) There was just one winner in the most recent Illinois State Lottery Lotto drawing, and the Chicago man — or woman — who matched six numbers will be claiming a cool $16 million, officials said Sunday.

The grand prize from Saturday's drawing will be paid out over the next 20 years to the still-unidentified winner. The large pot resulted from a rollover of the Jan. 28th drawing, and was boosted by $6 million in heavy ticket sales.

Five of the six Lotto numbers were matched by 226 players who will receive second prizes of $2,702.

The winning ticket was sold in Chicago, according to lottery spokeswoman Carrie Worley.

crease," Pettit said.

Pettit said the Chicago mayoral election will have great significance in getting the tax increase implemented.

"The mayor of Chicago can be a big player, depending on how he sees the state of the Chicago schools," he said. If the future mayor feels that the Chicago schools need better funding, the IBHE and the state board will have a very powerful ally.

Pettit is thankful for the increase, but does not want to speculate on the amount SIU will receive just yet.

"This still has a long way to go," he said.

construction of the facility.

Cost overruns have reached almost $200,000 for change orders, such as $19,000 for fixing doors to meet fire codes and an estimated $50,000 for supporting the southeast corner, which has sunk six inches since construction of the building was completed.

Richman criticized county officials for failure to incorporate funds for the new facility with money to be spent on alterations for the Jackson County Courthouse to produce a "justice center of which the people could be proud and which would have gone a long way toward solving the major problems of administering the judicial and law enforcement system."

Those problems, Richman said, include witnesses having to wait in hallways of the courthouse to testify, often being "exposed to the very offenders against whom they are asked to be witnesses," juvenile offenders being forced to sit on hard benches or roam hallways, instead of being protected from exposure to the public and the press; and jurors being forced to sit on hard benches "while they are waiting to be called to the jury box and while they are deliberating their decision."

Richman also cited lack of parking facilities, energy waste and problems of access for the handicapped.

Richman attributed the failure to a "myopic government" unable to see the necessity for planning and for meeting the overall needs of its employees and the public.

"This county government has had neither a sense of history nor a feeling for the future," Richman said. "It has had no goals."

Some members of the Jackson County Building Commission would not comment on L-1 issue, while others responded begrudgingly toward Richman's charges and said the ribbon-cutting ceremony was the wrong time for him to make his speech.

"The state mandated that we build the jail and we did," Commissioner Benjamin Dunn said.

Commissioner D. Blaney Miller said the only major problem with the new facility is the sinking foundation, which he hopes will be remedied "in the near future at no cost to the taxpayers."

At Camp David, Bush was presented with proposals to rescue the stricken industry in Administration officials said the multi-faceted plan included the suggestion that

Late last month, Brady advanced an idea — apparently originating with Darman — that consumers pay 25 cents for every $100 deposited in banks and thrift institutions.

Prof: Africans here before Columbus

Spanish explorers sighted blacks in 16th century

By Fernando Fellu-Moggi
Staff Writer

Africans lived in America long before Columbus set foot in the New World, according to Ivan Van Sertima, an anthropologist and linguist.

Van Sertima said Africans might have reached the coasts of America about 1,000 years B.C., developing one of the oldest American civilizations, the Olmec culture, in Mexico.

Van Sertima, an associate professor of African studies at Rutgers University in New Jersey, spoke Thursday night in the Student Center to open Black History Month.

Van Sertima said historical, botanical and linguistic evidence indicates the presence of blacks in America during the pre-Columbian period.

"The footnotes of history are full of the evidence of this presence," he said, referring to reports of sightings of blacks by Spanish explorers Vasco Nunez de Balboa and fray (father) Gregorio Garcia in the 16th century.

Van Sertima said a series of Olmec sculptures, representing warriors' heads, dating from 800 to 300 B.C., are the oldest evidence of black presence in America. The sculptures were found in Mexico.

The facial features of these sculptures "were definitely African," Van Sertima said. Their helmets were identical to those worn by Egyptian Nubian warriors of the time.

The hair style represented in the sculptures were braided in a style not found anywhere else in America, but characteristic of some African groups, he said.

Van Sertima said other evidence includes spears, forged with the same material in the two continents. The similarities between words used in the African Atlantic coast and the Caribbean show evidence of this presence.

Skeletons with African characteristics also have been found in Mexico and throughout the Caribbean. They have been carbon-dated and found to be more than 500 years old, he said.

Explaining how Africans could have arrived in America, Van Sertima said Atlantic sea currents that go from the African coast to the Caribbean and South America can take anything from one continent to the other.

involuntary, some expeditions were documented, he said.

Van Sertima cited the case of a king of Mali, a country on the West coast of Africa, who traveled to Mexico in 1311-1312.

He said although his evidence has been supported by many anthropologists, others dismiss it because of racism and a belief that Africans are a backward and primitive people.

"The primitive aspect of African culture controls modern research and studies because too many people have dedicated too much time to study small peoples from the African bush," Van Sertima said. "Behind that image there are 3,000 years of African science and technology."

Van Sertima said Africans were making steel in a single-stage process 1,200 to 1,500 years ago.

In the 14th century, Africans were performing eye cataract surgery in Mali and used anesthetics and antiseptics centuries before they were discovered by Western medicine, Van Sertima said.

Skeletons with African characteristics also have been found in Mexico and throughout the Caribbean. They have been carbon-dated and found to be more than 500 years old.

He said although the Africans had boats with the capability to travel to America, any man floating in a canoe could have made the trip and survived.

The trip was made by many Africans, though many were

Students, residents muster to honor Chinese New Year

By Fernando Fallu - Moggi Staff Writer

Kong Hee Fatt Choy. To the Chinese, this phrase, meaning "I wish you to have good luck," is a new year greeting, and it will come in handy today, when the Chinese celebrate the beginning of 1989.

International students and Carbondale residents celebrated the Chinese New Year in different parties during the past weekend.

The celebrations organized by the Chinese Student Association and the USA Malaysian Chinese Association welcomed the Year of the Snake which in the Chinese calendar begins today.

The Chinese calendar is organized around a zodiac consisting of 12-year cycles. Each year is named after a different animal. The Year of the Dragon was 1988 and the Year of the Snake was 1989.

Although in the Western tradition the snake is regarded as a perfidious beast, orientals consider it wise and charming, and so are considered those born in a Snake Year.

The celebrations, which started with the traditional new year lion dance and went on to display songs, dances and humorous sketches were accompanied by Chinese dinners prepared by area restaurants.

The celebrations were an excellent display of Chinese culture, charm and sense of humor prepared and staged professionally by University students.

While Saturday's celebration was characterized by the detail and perfection of the performances, Friday's celebration put together by the CSA, had its highlight in a casino, where those present especially the Chinese, had a chance to exercise their ability in the art of gambling.

Can Cocaine produce dependency? a) Yes b) No

National Collegiate Drug Awareness Week FEBRUARY 6-12

(a) yes. Cocaine is a central nervous system stimulant similar to amphetamine with a high that usually lasts about half an hour. "Coming down" can produce a desire to keep using the drug to avoid the depression. Therefore, although the drug is technically not physically addictive, it can produce psychological dependence.

Phone calls with 900 prefix not an option at University

Calls blocked from completion include dial-a-porn, polls

By Daniel Wallenberg
Staff Writer

All long distance phone calls with a 900 prefix, one of three prefixes used in the dial-a-porn adult entertainment industry, cannot be made from University phones Harry D. Wirth, director of service enterprises, said.

Calls are blocked from completion at the switching center serving a customer's telephone. In Illinois, GTE switching centers offer blocking service to nearly 65 percent of its customers, including those in Carbondale and Marion.

Wirth said use of the 900 prefix is blocked because the University does not need the services, such as public opinion polls and home shopping services.

The prefixes 700 and 976 have not been blocked because their use has not been a problem in the past, Wirth said.

"We have specifically dealt with the 900 prefix because of the variety of services it provides," Wirth said.

Wirth said the other prefixes will be blocked if their use becomes a problem.

Blocking calls can only be done in certain areas where newer GTE facilities are available. A negative side of blocking specific prefixes is that all services using that prefix are blocked.

Steinberg jurors hated his lover

NEW YORK (UPI) — The foreman of the jury that convicted Joel Steinberg for killing a 6-year-old girl said Sunday that some jurors "hated" Steinberg's battered lover but she would have been cleared if she had been put on trial.

Forcing Hedda Nussbaum, the prosecution's star witness, to face charges along with Steinberg would have cleared up the public's view of her role in the child abuse death of Lisa Steinberg, said jury foreman Jeremiah Cole, appearing on WNBC-TV's "News Forum" program.

Nussbaum, 46, was originally arrested in the death of Lisa, who had been illegally adopted by the couple, but charges were later dropped after prosecutors determined she had been too physically and emotionally abused allegedly at the hands of Steinberg — either to injure or save the girl.

The 47-year-old Steinberg, a disbarred attorney, was found guilty of first degree manslaughter last week, concluding a sensational, widely publicized trial.

Blood drive falls short by 133 pints

The first Red Cross blood drive at Lewis Park Apartments collected 81 pints of blood, Vivian Ugent, blood drive coordinator, said.

"We were pleased with the response. The drive ended on an upbeat note after starting out slow," Ugent said. "The drive (at Lewis Park) was convenient for the residents."

The four-day blood drive collected a total of 817 units of blood, 133 pints short of the 950-pint goal. More than three-fourths of the blood was collected at the Student Center.

Big Easy festivities draw usual crowds

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Despite a chilly drizzle, thousands of Mardi Gras revelers jammed the streets of the Big Easy Sunday to watch parades and catch souvenirs on the busiest day of the Carnival season.

Eleven parades were scheduled to roll through the streets of New Orleans and surrounding suburbs, giving parade goers ample opportunity to scramble for beads and other trinkets thrown by the masked float riders.

The biggest parade — or "krewe" — was Bacchus, capping the day's events with a night procession through the city referred to by locals as the Big Easy.

The hedonistic Carnival season climaxes this Tuesday on Mardi Gras, when an estimated 1 million people will jam into the downtown area for a last blowout before the solemn Catholic lenten season begins Ash Wednesday.

Temperatures remained in the 40s for a second day, but few of the hundreds of thousands of revelers seemed to notice the cold or the intermittent drizzle that fell part of the day Saturday and Sunday.

The spring break feeling of the previous four days was gradually replaced Sunday with an older, more sedate crowd than the college-age revelers. Travel agents generally book two different packages during Carnival — one that lasts until Saturday for college students, and the other for older people which ends Tuesday.

One float rider was slightly injured Saturday by an object thrown at her from the throng, but police said overall the liquor-soaked crowd was well-behaved.

In the French Quarter on Bourbon Street, as many as 10,000 people jammed into each of the first seven blocks of the famous street Saturday night, creating a human gridlock that made any movement virtually impossible. The mostly young throng swilled beer and the locally famous liquor-and-punch Hurricanes and implored young women on balconies to remove their blouses in a bawdy chant.

"What, you want me to take it off for a string of beads?" shouted a blonde on a third-floor balcony.

When she refused, the crowd moved beneath the next balcony, and repeated their bawdy chant to a brunette twirling a string of white beads.

A young woman on a balcony finally consented to remove her blouse, sending the crowd of mostly college-age males into a frenzy on the street below. Many threw beads to the woman, who replaced her blouse and said in an embarrassed tone, "I can't believe I just did that. I hope my mother didn't see that."

Nearby, a group of five people gathered around a man who shouted Scripture and pounded a Bible in his hand, telling the crowd they were all going to hell for their excesses. One of the group carried a sign that read, "The party won't begin until you ask Jesus in." Another dragged an 8-foot crucifix on wheels through the happy throng.

Bathrooms were at a premium along the street filled with strip joints and bars selling beers for $2, and one woman begged a guard to let her use a hotel's facility.

"You don't understand, nature calls," she said to the guard in an imploring tone.

"I didn't hear the phone ring," the guard shot back, locking the woman out of the swank establishment.

Other people finally passed out from the excesses of liquor and non-stop partying, curling on the street in the crowd. Several people stopped to have their picture taken with one passed-out soul, who slept peacefully on the street for a couple of hours.

Fraternity performs in Culp

By Kathleen DeBo
Staff Writer

Phi Beta Sigma fraternity members advised young blacks to get college educations and to stay away from drugs during a performance in Culp.

As part of Black History Month, which continues to the end of this month, the fraternity did a stepping show, a rhythmic performance with hands and feet, Friday night.

Culp is a primarily black community between Carterville and Herrin.

Tim Hughes, public relations director of the fraternity, said the appearance was part of a fraternity effort to give something back to society.

"It's like living back in the south in 60s and 70s. In a whole township (Culp) of blacks, there's not even a store. They're just now getting sewage systems," he said.

Hughes said younger black kids tend to look up to fraternities.

Hughes said many young blacks graduate from high school, settle for mediocre jobs and do not think about college.

"Most just go to the Army. We try and tell them, if they go to the Army, they can get them (the Army) to pay for college. We try to tell them about both ends of the spectrum," he said.

He said this is the first performance the fraternity has done this year. The fraternity has performed for other fraternity chapters, Illinois State University and at community service projects.

award for its efforts in bringing events to Culp.

Members told the audience about where they were from, their personal histories, how they had come to realize the importance of a college education and the importance of staying away from drugs.

One observer said the audience, which included high school athletes, responded well, partly because many of the performers were athletes.

Jiminy Cricket labeled fraud by specialist

CHICAGO (UPI) — The most famous insect movie star of all time, Jiminy Cricket, is a fraud, an insect expert has charged, alleging the cartoon character is not a cricket at all.

"From the entomological point of view, he's not much of a cricket," said May R. Berenbaum, a University of Illinois insect specialist.

"He's the wrong color. The mouth is wrong. The eyes are wrong. He has the wrong number of legs," she said, ticking off the damning entomological evidence.

Jiminy may have been "playing cricket," but evidently his Hollywood handlers weren't. "They wanted to make him cute, so they made him uncricket-like," Berenbaum said.

Mahan said keeping the tempo at the Salukis' pace is a challenge now that more players are forced to play longer without a break.

"Keeping up the tempo is difficult," Mahan said. "You are away from home, and try to play hard, but it is so hard to keep it up."

recruiting to rest," Smith said. "We can't meet and practice during the offseason, but we can meet in small groups and discuss academics and personal things.

"I would like to try and meet with every individual on this team before the spring workouts. I have heard nothing but the fact that they are enthusiastic and some are very talented."

Smith said he will be looking for an offensive coordinator who could handle a variety of different offenses.

"He has to be well organized and run a variety of different sets," Smith said. "We may be an option team for a few years because of the personnel here. We are looking for guys to run a multiple offense."

Meyer said a big part of the Salukis' offensive plans will be evaluating SIU-C's quarterbacks.

"We have to take a good look at the quarterback situation," Meyer said. "I think we are going to have a good idea when we come out of spring how we sit. If they are good passers, we will use it to complement some of the offensive schemes. If they are not good passers, I'm sure there some running backs to pick up the slack."

The Salukis' wishbone offense, brought to the University by Rhodes from Troy State, will be used sparingly, Meyer said.

"We may keep it inside the 10, but that is not Bob Smith's style," Meyer said. "We won't totally scrap heap it. The offensive coordinator will have a lot of input about what is going in. Right now we have to tell the players who are here 'Don't panic, because we are going to use you.'"

Meyer played collegiate football at Illinois State and later as a professional with the Chicago Bears and Montreal Alouettes. He spent two seasons coaching in Canada before joining the University of Illinois staff in 1982 and going to SEMO with Smith in 1984.

Young comes to the Salukis from the Johnson and Johnson Company. Young received his master's degree at SIU-C and served as graduate assistant in both football and baseball for the Salukis.

He has coached at Illinois Valley Community College, Southwest Minnesota State, South Dakota, Illinois Benedictine and SEMO.

Young left SEMO and football for his stint with Johnson's, but said he realized football was his real calling.

"I took on a good position in the athletic division of Johnson's, but a traveling salesman I am not," Young said. "I'm a good football coach, and realized that after a period of time."

DeNoon praises his runners after 2nd-place finish at Iowa

By Paul Pabst
Staff Writer

Going into the Iowa Invitational with a team stricken by illness, women's track coach Don DeNoon didn't expect a second-place finish. He had hoped that the team would perform well, but he didn't expect it.

The Saluki women gave their coach a surprise with their score of 107½ points, second only to host University of Iowa, who scored 140.

DeNoon lauded the performance of jumper Christiana Philippou. Philippou won both the long jump and the triple jump with leaps of 19 feet 1 inch and 39-8¾ respectively. For her effort, Philippou was voted Best Field Athlete of the competition.

Adding to the Salukis powerful jumping field was senior Carmen Robbins. Robbins placed second in the long jump and third in the triple jump. The team received 34 of their 107½ total points from the jumping of Robbins and Philippou.

"It was a good meet," DeNoon said. "I saw some great performances. The jumping events have always been our forte. It's one area that I have no worries about."

Sprinter Kathy Raske set a new team record with a time of 7.99 seconds in the 55-meter hurdles. Raske's first-place finish is just .09 seconds off the NCAA qualifying time.

Rosanne Vincent and Dora Kyriacou each came through with strong performances against the large field of runners.

Vincent was the meet winner in the 800-meters in a time of 2:13.83. Kyriacou, despite sickness, placed second in the 200-meters in 25.59 seconds.

Angie Nunn took second in the 400-meters with a time of 57.05. DeNoon said first place was in reach for Nunn except for one significant mishap.

"Her legs buckled with about four meters left," DeNoon said. "It's just one of those things, her legs gave out and the other girl just got by her. It could be that she's still sick."

DeNoon said that sickness or not, his team will be ready for the conference meet.

"This is the greatest team I've ever coached," DeNoon said. "They have such great physical ability. They've been set back by the flu, bronchitis, pneumonia and we still finish at the top of every meet."

Cornell pleased with meet results

By Paul Pabst
Staff Writer

The men's indoor track team spent the weekend doing battle with a field of over 20 top teams at the Indiana Invitational in Bloomington, Ind.

"We did as well as anyone there. It was a non-scored meet," coach Bill Cornell said. "No one team really dominated, everyone placed a few people."

The people who did the job for the Salukis were middle distance runners Paul Burkinshaw and Paul Glanville.

Burkinshaw and Glanville placed one and two in the 1,000-meter run, with times of 2 minutes 29.24 seconds and 2:30.54, respectively. The successful tandem came as a surprise to Cornell.

"Finishing first and second was a surprise considering the great athletes in the field," Cornell said. "They both ran superior tactical races. Burkinshaw's time was his best since coming here (SIU-C)."

Triple jumper Leonard Vance and distance runner Vaughn Harry also performed well against the stacked field.

Vance's leap of 49 feet 9¼ inches was enough to place second in the triple jump final. Harry, who ran a 8:29.40 in the 3,000-meters, placed fifth.

Though Cornell said that the meet was an improvement, he still thinks that the Salukis could be much better.

"Someone must step forward to be the leader, especially with the sprinters, nobody has taken that role. We are going to have a team meeting (today) and get things set straight. We have to get the effort up a notch."

Men claim third straight league win

By David Gallanetti
Staff Writer

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. — When the men's basketball team decides to outbounce a team, they don't mess around. Ask Indiana State.

The Sahukis pulled down 62 boards to the Sycamores' 35 en route to a 81-72 victory Saturday night.

SIU-C pushed its win streak to three games, as Rich Herrin's squad upped its record to 16-6, 6-3 in the Missouri Valley. The Sycamores dropped to 4-16, 0-8 in the MVC.

Sterling Mahan led the Sahukis with 24 points, and combined with Kai Nurnberger to score 44 of SIU-C's total.

Jerry Jones paced the Sahukis rebounding game with 18, while Tony Harvey added 11 and Mahan eight.

The Sahukis led by 18 points two times, 65-47 with 8:30 left and 67-49 with 6:55 remaining, but Herrin said his team hasn't found the ability to put an opponent away yet.

"I think we led all the way and that is the big thing," Herrin said. "I just don't know if we have that killer instinct we need. We are glad to get this victory, because you have got to be concerned about coming in here."

The Sahukis played without the services of Rick Shipley, who sat on the bench with an injured finger. Herrin said the sophomore could have played, but he opted to let Shipley sit rather than risk reinjuring the finger.

Freddie McSwain played just four minutes of the contest, entering with 15:40 left in the second half. McSwain did not start because he was skipping classes, and will not start tonight at Evansville.

Mahan and Nurnberger said the loss of two players takes its toll on the remainder of the roster.

"The depth is not there that we used to have," Nurnberger said. "People don't get breaks. We have got to suck up until they get back. A few people have got to work for a whole bunch."

"We have already played

Tribute to SIU-C swimmers highlight of weekend meet

By Tricia Jording
Staff Writer

The unveiling of the Ralph Casey Swimming-Diving Wall of Fame, a tribute to great moments in Saluki swimming history, inspired the swimmers and coaches to a successful weekend at the last home meet of the season.

"We were more excited about the Casey Wall of Fame than the meet," Coach Doug Ingram said. "That left little pressure on the meet as our competition wasn't as tough as some."

Ingram was surprised by the performance of some of his athletes.

"The team surprises were generally good and solid," Ingram said.

Among those were Tim Kelly in the 400-meter individual medley with a time of 4 minutes 7.84 seconds and Jeff Goetz, who took first place in the 50 freestyle with a time of 21.15 seconds.

"Goetz has been sick since December and he has been swimming much better since his illness has passed," Ingram said.

Team captain Scott Roberts was pleased with his performance for his last home meet.

"I'm personally pleased with my performance because of it being a special weekend in front of the home crowd, alumni and the Casey Wall ceremony," Roberts said.

The pressure on Roberts wasn't as tense as some would have thought.

Junior Mark Canterbury swims his way to a second-place finish in the 200-meter backstroke in a time of 2 minutes 1.36 seconds. The SIU-C men won the 21st Saluki Invitational.

"I relaxed as we're focusing on getting more people qualified for the NCAA finals," Roberts said. "I've got high goals for myself not only athletically but academically."

The team has been practicing hard in the past weeks and they still have a strong focus. In the next week the practicing time will

Recruiting remains coaches' concern

Smith focusing on Feb. 8 signing day

By David Gallanetti
Staff Writer

Football coach Bob Smith will name the remainder of his staff sometime this week, while he and his assistants are focusing on Wednesday's national signing day.

Smith, who replaced Rick Rhoades as head coach Jan. 30, named Gerry Hart, Ralph Young and Phil Meyer to his staff at a press conference Friday.

Young, who will serve as defensive assistant and recruiting coordinator, and Meyer, an offensive assistant, were associated with Smith during his four-year stay as head coach at Southeast Missouri State.

Hart, the Salukis' new defensive coordinator, was a standout quarterback at SIU-C in the late 1950s and later served as an assistant coach for the Salukis. He has also been head coach at Illinois State and defensive coordinator at Western Illinois.

For now, Smith said he and his partial staff will be concentrating on recruiting.

"It's tough because the timing is very tough," Smith said. "I made the statement to one of our administrators, if it does not turn out, it will not be the end of Southern Illinois' football program. It may turn out very well."

Smith said despite the departure of Fred Riley, Greg McMahon and Rod Sherrill from Rhoades' staff, the Salukis will continue to sign those players sought by the former staff.

"In 95 percent of the cases, we will recruit the same people, with a few exceptions," Smith said. "We will recruit (junior college players) only to fill voids and if we have some needs. The basic backbone has to come from high school athletes and should come from Illinois high school athletes."

Among Smith's activities this week will be the naming of an offensive coordinator and assistant, another defensive assistant and meeting with the team.

"Meeting with the team is a top priority as soon as we put

Win streak on the line against improved Aces

By David Gallanetti
Staff Writer

The final stop on the Salukis' Indiana tour is going to take everything they've got, and then some.

SIU-C will pull into Evansville tonight at 7:35 p.m. to face the 15-3 Aces, Saluki coach Rich Herrin said. Evansville is a more than formidable opponent.

"Their effort on the floor may be as great as any effort I've seen on the court by an entire team," Herrin said. "They are playing as good as they have played all year. They are the highest ranked team we have left on our schedule."

The Aces defeated the Aces 73-71 Nov. 30 when Freddie McSwain tipped in a rebound with seconds left.

"They play with a great effort and really play well without the basketball," Herrin said. "We are taking our chances up at Evansville."

The Aces are led by 6-foot-9 center Dan Godfred and 6-4 guard Scott Haffner. Godfred scored 21 and Haffner 20 in the

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS AT EVANSVILLE

Tipoff: Roberts Stadium (11,008), Evansville, Ind. 8:35 p.m.
Records: Southern Illinois (16-6, 5-3), Evansville (15-3).

What to watch: The Salukis will be seeking their fourth straight win without the starting services of Freddie McSwain. SIU-C is coming off a big rebounding night, outscoring Indiana State 62-35 in the paint.

Drake moves into tie with women after dropping Scott's team 68-64

The women's basketball team was not the victim of a runaway locomotive or a barreling 18-wheel semi-truck or even a charging bull.

But the Salukis felt that Drake's 22-6 explosion late in the second half was something similar.

Even though Drake was without leading scorer Julie Fitzpatrick, who has an injured knee, the Bulldogs rolled past the Salukis 68-64 Saturday in Des Moines, Iowa.

"We got into a spell where we didn't score," coach Cindy

Scott said. "Drake changed to a box-and-one and our offense got out of sync. We went cold."

Both teams are now tied for second in the Gateway Conference with 8-3 records. On the season, SIU-C is 10-9 and Drake is 12-7.

"It was a great second half," Scott said. "Both teams played real hard. It was a well-played, well-fought game."

Picking up the slack for Drake was Missy Slockett, who completed a three-point play with 5:54 remaining for a 58-46 Bulldogs' lead.

Slockett led all scorers with 20 points, 18 coming in the second half.

Cathy Kampwerth, a 6-4 senior center, had 18 points to lead the Salukis. However, Scott said that Kampwerth still didn't handle the ball enough.

"We didn't get the ball to her when we needed to," Scott said.

Saluki reserve guard Deanna Sanders had five 3-point goals for 15 points.

The score was tied 29-29 at half. The Salukis had a 43-36 advantage with 13:35 left when Drake started its run.

The Salukis play host to Western Illinois at 5:30 p.m.
